Oil Activity Hot Spot

Three Wells Completed, Drilling Two Near Airport In Raleigh Township

A hot spot of oil activity is right now centered around the Roy Naugle farm residence in Section 20 of Raleigh township, west of the Harrisburg-Raleigh airport, with three oil wells and two drilling operations going on within not more than a quarter of a mile of each other. All drilling is going to the Aux Vases formation.

A little more than a week ago the Carter Oil Co. completed its Dick Gann No. 1, NW 1/4 NE SW, 20-8S-6E, which produced 327 barrels of oil and 81 of water in 24 hours under a quarter-inch choke.

This week Carter was completing its Bruno DeGiacinto No. 1, NE 1/4 NW SW, 20-8S-6E. Although production figures were not ready, there were reports that it will be a better well than the Gann No. 1. One report said saturation was hit in the Benoist, but the well continued to the Aux Vases.

Across the road from these operations is the Ezra Galbraith well, NW 1/4 SE SW, 20-8S-6E, drilled by C. E. O'Neal and Co. of Evansville. Its production also was not available.

However, tanks have been installed at the Carter well sites and were on the grounds for installation at the Galbraith operation. Transports also were busy moving oil from the Gann well.

A short distance to the west, the Lohman-Johnson Drilling Co. was down to 2,150 shortly after noon yesterday at its Roy Naugle No. 1.

A little farther to the west Carter Oil Co. was drilling at 380 feet at its N. A. Thompson No. 1, SE 1/4 SE, 19-8S-6E.

Carter also has a drilling permit for the Bruno DeGiacinto No. 2, SW 1/4 SE NW SW, 20-8S-6E.

Ask Judgment of $500 in Lawsuit

John W. Morris and Grace L. Morris seek a judgment of $500 and costs from the Farm and Home Insurance Co. in a lawsuit filed for them in circuit court by Atty. Trafton Dennis.

The complaint says the two entered into a contract of insurance for hospital and surgical bills in March, 1956, and kept the policy in force. During December, 1956, it says, Mrs. Morris entered Pearce hospital in Eldorado and incurred doctor's and hospital expenses for which the defendant became liable in the amount of $500.

The complaint says the defendant has failed to pay the claims and asks for a judgment of $500 and costs.

10-Year Program

Outline National Park Plans At Area Meeting

A program of national park development that will go ten years into the future was described last night by Ray Freeman, chief engineer of the National Park Service's Mission 66 for the entire country, at the Shawnee Hills Recreation association meeting held at Shawneetown.

A crowd packed the American Legion dining room to hear Mr. Freeman, sent here when William C. Carnes, head of Mission 66, could not come because he had to appear before congressional hearings in Washington.

His address followed a dinner of barbecued chicken, prepared and served by the host Shawneetown Kiwanis club.

Shows Slides
Mr. Freeman, who was stationed at nearby Camp Breckinridge, Ky., for a while during his World War II service, showed slides of scenes from national parks to illustrate his talk.

Mission 66, he said, was developed because of the crowded conditions of national parks, which have nearly twice as many visitors as they are now able to handle and which will have many more in the future.

Some of the aims, he said, are: 1. More modern accommodations. Private industry will be encouraged to develop gateway areas and also do development inside the parks, which include scenic and historical sites.

2. Bring road systems up to date. But no high speed roads will be built.

3. Forming adequate staffs to maintain parks and prevent fires. He said the National Park Service will co-operate with states and other divisions.

Proposals By Jones
Sen. Glen O. Jones, at the conclusion of Mr. Freeman's speech, said that since the National Park Service is interested in development of historical sites, he knew of no better places than Shawneetown, with all of its historical background, and Massac county, where George Rogers Clark took off to retain the entire northwest territory.

Mr. Freeman said that the United States will be broken into planning units, with Illinois, Indiana and either Wisconsin or Michigan one unit and that experts will come in and dig up information for study

Senate Approves $41 Million To Restore Postal Service

To Question Hodge at Menard State Prison

CHESTER, Ill. (UP)—Two state investigators were to arrive here today to question imprisoned ex-State Auditor Orville E. Hodge about his recent statements that other persons shared in his huge embezzlement of state funds.

Peter McGuire, chief investigator for the Illinois Attorney General, and Robert A. Sprecher, special assistant, planned to question Hodge at Menard State Prison.

An audit of Hodge's tangled financial records indicated he embezzled $2,599,604 in his phony check scheme. However, Hodge maintained he stole only $1,200,000 and put back $600,000.

The new probe was touched off by a Chicago newspaper (the Sun-Times) which quoted Hodge as saying in an interview that others also shared in the loot.

The newspaper said that although Hodge named no one, he indicated that Edward A. Epping, his former office manager, and Edward A. Hintz, former president of the Southmoor Bank and Trust Co., Chicago, might have received some of the missing money. Both Epping and Hintz have been imprisoned for their part in the theft.

Hodge is expected to be subpoenaed to testify against Epping, who still faces charges of perjury, confidence game and embezzlement. He also may testify in the cases of Lloyd E. Lane, his former payroll supervisor, and William D. Lydon, suspended Chicago policeman and interior decorator, charged with conspiracy to defraud in the Hodge "scandal."

The Harrisburg Ministerial association will hold Good Friday services at the First Methodist church from noon to 3 p. m. on Friday. The meeting will be preceded by an organ prelude played by Mrs. Robert Norman.

The service will open with a period of quiet moments, scripture sentences and prayer. At 12 noon there will be a call to worship with the congregation standing. Next will be the invocation with the Rev. W. L. Cummins leading, and the Collect for Good Friday with the congregation uniting with the leader in prayer.

There will be a "Prayer of Confession, a responsive reading, words of forgiveness by the leader and The Lord's prayer repeated in unison.

At 12:15 p. m. the choir will sing "Beneath the Cross of Jesus" followed by the reading of the First Word, Luke 23:34 by the Rev. W. L. Cummins. After a silent meditation, accompanied softly on the organ, there will be a prayer read responsively by the congregation and the leader.

At 12:15 p. m. John Schork will sing, followed by the reading of The Second Word, Luke 23:43, by the Rev. C. R. Yost. Again there will be silent meditation and prayers. At 1 p. m. there will be a solo sung by Mrs. F. M. Sullivan and The Third Word, John 19:26-27 read by the Rev. William Burroughs. The silent meditation and prayers follow. At 1:25 p. m. Phillip Kane will sing and The Fourth Word, Matthew 27:46, will be read by the Rev. Floyd Hale, followed by silent meditation and prayers.

The Fifth Word, John 19:28, read by the Rev. Glen W. Daugherty, will be preceded by a solo sung by Bill Williams, and will be followed by silent meditation and prayers. At 2:15 The Sixth Word, John 19:30, will be read by the Rev. Peter Kunnen followed by silent meditation and prayers. Mrs. Maurice Winn will sing at 2:40 p. m. followed by The Seventh Word, Luke 23:46, read by the Rev. Maurice Winn. John Schork will sing and a period of silent meditation with organ accompaniment, will follow. Prayers by the leader and the people will complete the program and after a benediction, an organ postlude will close the meeting.

Those who find it necessary to leave the meeting should do so between the periods.

Members of the Harrisburg high school board of education will meet later this week to organize.

The Morrisville board will organize next Monday.

At Rackets Hearing

Former Boxer Says Strong-Arm Men Beat Up Teamster Members

WASHINGTON (UP)—A former professional boxer testified today that strong-arm squads beat up dissident members of a Teamsters Union local in Scranton, Pa.

The witness, Paul Bradshaw, also told the Senate Labor Rackets Committee that he and his friends "voted six or seven times" each in a 1954 union election.

Bradshaw, a 36-year-old truck driver, was the opening witness as the committee began hearings on what it called "a classic example of the use of force and violence . . . and terror tactics" by union leaders.

Bradshaw, who was convicted in connection with the dynamiting of a house, told senators that Robert Malloy, business agent of Teamsters Local 229 in Scranton, rigged elections. He said 80 per cent of the union members did not even know the elections were on the agenda.

He also testified that Malloy "gave instructions about beating up a fellow; he'd get Robert Hurshman" to do it.

"There was a fellow there—he'd get up on the floor at meetings," Bradshaw said. "He was going out the door and Hurshman clipped him a couple of times and said, 'Don't call me no damned Jew.' The fellow never opened his mouth."

Voted Several Times

Bradshaw said Malloy once asked him and two other men to beat up one Red Harrington, "but I wouldn't have nothing to do with it."

Bradshaw said "I done all right in the amateurs" in boxing bouts and then won 20 or 21 fights as a professional.

He said he was first elected a steward of Local 229, then Malloy told him to bring friends to a meeting with instructions how to vote. With only a few members present, the local then voted to extend the tenure of Malloy and two other business agents from three to five years, and allow them to appoint the stewards. Then in Local 229's election in 1954, Bradshaw said, Malloy gave him and his friends extra receipts for paid-up dues, allowing them to vote extra times.

"Several of us voted six or seven times," Bradshaw said. Malloy was elected business agent of the local and J. C. Hart, president.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said in an opening statement the hearings will show that "some union officials engaged in bullying tactics and made use of violence and terror tactics to impose their will not only on certain segments of their community but on the members of their unions."

Begin Selecting Jury for Trial Of Don Garrison

Questioning the prospective jurors was State's Attorney Robert V. Wilson and Assistant State's Attorney Harry L. McCabe for the prosecution and Atty. Lloyd H. Melton and Atty. Joe M. Butler, counsel for the defense.

Cut Off Without a Cent

Charity Patient, 104, Gets $300,000 from Daughter's Estate After Court Battle

DETROIT (UP)—A 104-year-old charity patient, who worked as a charwoman to raise a family of 10 children, was awarded $300,000 Monday from the estate of a millionaire daughter who tried to cut her off without a cent.

The award to Mrs. Wilhelmina Van Etten, a city-supported patient at a rest home here, climaxed a two-year legal battle in courts in Michigan and New York. Mrs. Van Etten's attorneys, in a suit filed two years ago, contended that her six-times wed daughter, Mrs. Agnes Momand, ignored her mother because of fraud and undue influence.

The daughter, who died May 25, 1955 at the age of 65, wrote six wills, but failed to leave her mother any of the 3 million dollar fortune she had amassed by her marriages. In one of her wills, however, Mrs. Momand remembered her mother by a gift to the University of Nevada.

In contesting the will, attorneys for Mrs. Van Etten cited usage of alcohol and drugs as reasons why her daughter was unfit to make a will.

The only member of the family mentioned in the will was Mrs. Betty Roberts, of Los Angeles, a sister of Mrs. Momand. Other beneficiaries included her doctors, nurses, servants and her last husband, Donald S. Momand of London.

Mrs. Van Etten, a hospital patient for the past two years, was said to be in "satisfactory condition."

Asked what she would do with the money, she said: "Just pay some bills."

Theatre Owner Plans to 'Pipe' Films to TV Sets

MT. CARMEL, Ill. — If theatre owner Keith Coleman's plans work out all right, Mt. Carmel residents may have movies from Coleman's theatre "piped" into the TV sets in their homes soon.

Coleman was granted a franchise to construct and operate an "electronic home theater system" for 25 years by the City Council Monday.

For the franchise, Coleman will pay the city $100 per year rent plus a share of the gross revenue of the system.

Plans for the system call for a coaxial cable from the theatre to subscribers' homes. Coleman said he would, where possible, utilize present telephone and public utility poles to carry the cable.

Quick Action Follows OK By Committee

Knowland, Martin Say Bill Will Reach White House Tonight

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate quickly approved by voice vote today a House passed 41-million-dollar emergency appropriation to restore normal postal service.

The action came a scant 10 minutes after the Senate met and unanimously agreed to suspend its rules and take up the measure immediately.

It had been approved less than a half hour earlier by the Senate Appropriations Committee in a 10-minute closed door session.

The bill, carrying a total of $49,861,000 for the post office and several other agencies, was returned to the House for concurrence in minor Senate amendments.

The postal figure was 41 million dollars—six million short of what Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield requested.

The swift Senate action required barely 40 minutes from the opening of the special Appropriations Committee session to final Senate passage.

Committee Chairman Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.) asked and got unanimous consent to suspend Senate rules and take up the emergency appropriation immediately.

Summerfield, who cut back postal services drastically last Saturday, has said he can not restore full service until the emergency bill is signed by the President.

Earlier, Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) and House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) told President Eisenhower at a White House legislative conference that the appropriation might reach the White House tonight.

A post office spokesman has told the United Press full service could be restored at post offices "within 24 hours" after the money is available.

Actually, chances were Summerfield would give the order to restore service as soon as the Senate acts. Eisenhower's signature then would be just a matter of getting the final measure to the White House.

The House, despite hints of possible delay, thumped the money bill through Monday by voice vote when a demand for a roll call would have stymied the measure at least until Wednesday. The House did not act, however, until after Democrats had roundly denounced Summerfield and Republicans had defended him.

Democratic attacks ranged all the way from suggestions the postmaster be impeached to charges he "discommoded as many people as he could" by his postal cuts. Republicans retorted the Democrats were to blame for holding up the post office's money.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And the Lord spoke unto you out of the midst of the fire.—Deut. 4:12.

God speaks to us in manifold ways today. He speaks to us by opportunity. Wherever there is hunger, ignorance, wickedness, suffering there is God's voice speaking to us, but the still small voice can be heard by any one.

Classic Nerve

It was a classic piece of effrontery for Teamster Boss Dave Beck to expect the union whose funds he has used as his personal treasury to ante up $1 million to help him whitewash his operations.

The Teamsters' executive board did approve the idea of a publicity campaign to give the public the "union's side of the story," but without the $1 million.

There is something utterly fantastic about the idea of men like Beck, Jimmy Hoffa and Frank Brewster, who may have misappropriated hundreds of thousands of dollars in union money, spending even vaster sums to gloss over the fact.

If the Teamsters want to get a clean bill of health before the public their course is clear: get rid of corrupt leadership and operate an honest, democratic, racket-free union.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Len Hall Asked Dave Beck For Truckers' Support. Not Beck's Support: Beck Met Right Inside White House To Swing Truckers To Ike: Hall Planned Big Publicity Build-Up For Beck.

WASHINGTON.—Newspaper denials are a dime a dozen in Washington these days. They are the easiest statement for a politician to make. He knows the denial will get headlines and half the public will believe it. The other half won't. Final result: Nobody quite knows the truth.

Last week Len Hall, ex-chairman of the Republican National committee, issued a ringing, righteous denial that he had ever solicited the help of Dave Beck in the last campaign. A statement to the contrary had come from Arthur Condon, personal attorney for Beck.

Mr. Condon is a highly reputable attorney. He does not lie. Therefore, who was telling the truth?

The answer took some probing, but is highly interesting. Technically Len Hall was telling the truth. In a broader sense, Condon was. Hall did not seek Dave Beck's support for Eisenhower; he already had it. He was seeking Dave Beck's support in getting the trucking industry to support Eisenhower.

Beck has always been a Republican, and, as Teamsters' executive vice president, had begun to buck his late boss, Dan Tobin, and the latter's ardent FRD friendship.

Len Hall, therefore, appealed to Condon to get Beck's help in putting the trucking industry behind Ike.

SHERMAN ADAMS PHONED

Condon is the attorney not only for Beck, but for the Independent Advisory committee to the trucking industry. Hall knew this. He also knew that the truckers in Washington state were supporting Sen. Warren Magnuson, Democrat, and in Oregon, Sen. Wayne Morse, Democrat. He knew that campaign contributions hadn't come in from the truckers as expected. So Hall appealed to Condon.

There followed a meeting right inside the White House in the office of Assistant President Sherman Adams. Present were Hall himself, Beck, Adams, Condon; Bert Seymour, who is head of Associated Transport and also of the Advisory Trucking committee; Walter Carey, former head of the American Trucking Association; and Roy Fruehauf, head of Fruehauf Trailers.

At the meeting it was proposed that certain things be done to placate the trucking industry, then jirked at Ike over Secretary Weeks' transportation report favoring the railroads, at the taxes placed on truckers in the highway bill, and at the tight money policy, which though not aimed at truckers, hurt them.

It was finally agreed that the Weeks transportation policy and the highway bill were water over the dam, but that something could be done about hard money. Sherman Adams, therefore, got on the phone to Wendell Barnes, head of the Small Business Administration, and told him to ease credit for truckers.

Barnes then set up a task force, which resulted in relaxing small business loan requirements for truckers.

It was also proposed that Beck and Fruehauf go to Puerto Rico and make some pro-labor speeches which, it was figured, would influence the Puerto Rican vote in New York City. This, however, never came off.

BUILD-UP FOR BECK

He was so grateful that in December, after Ike had won, he got in touch with Condon, told him he was leaving as chairman of the GOP sometime in February, but had talked over with Sherman Adams the idea of building up Dave Beck. He said that Richard Guylay, his assistant on the Republican National committee, was also leaving to go into public relations and might take on the project of making Beck the great Republican labor leader.

It was definitely agreed, therefore, that Guylay would come to work with and for Beck as soon as he resigned, which was to be in February. The talk was in early December.

Late in December when the first rumblings leaked out of the McClellan committee that Beck might be in trouble, there was further discussion with Hall, when it was agreed that the White House would find a foreign assignment for Beck which would make him a knight in shining armor, above politics.

This was why Beck went abroad so confidently and stayed there.

His appointment as an international labor organization delegate was already in the works, but he was promised something above and beyond this. As late as three or four days before Beck abruptly returned to the USA, Secretary of Labor Mitchell told Condon that Eisenhower didn't want Beck relieved, and that the ILO appointment would stand. He did caution that the State Department might have the final word.

In the end, however, Mitchell himself took the initiative in dropping Beck.

During the discussions of last fall and summer, incidentally, Len Hall et al knew that Beck had income tax difficulties. But there seemed to be a comfortable feeling that this was only a civil case and all would be settled.

There are two epilogues to the story:

1. When Beck's friends finally got together with Guylay on Feb. 14 to discuss the public relations job he was going to do for Beck, Guylay said he was sorry, but he couldn't do anything for a labor guy. He had thought, he said, he was going to do a job for the trucking industry.

2. In the Teamsters headquarters hangs a photo of Beck, Eisenhower, Fruehauf, Condon and Seymour, taken in those halcyon days last fall when Beck was running in and out of the White House every week and everyone was calling him "Dave."

Senate Passes Bill to Boost Bond Interest

By United Press

The Senate passed and returned to the House today a bill to let the Treasury increase interest on U. S. savings bonds from the present 3 per cent to 3 1/4 per cent.

The measure applies to all "E" bonds issued on or after Feb. 1, 1957.

The Treasury had sought permission to increase the rate as high as 4 1/4 per cent, although it planned to go no higher than 3 1/4 per cent now. The House voted to make the ceiling 3 1/2 per cent.

The Senate, however, made the figure 3 1/4 per cent and returned the measure for House concurrence.

When the bill becomes law, the Treasury plans to make "E" bonds mature after 8 years and 11 months instead of the present 9 years and 8 months.

The measure approved by the Senate would permit the Treasury to pay the higher rate for bonds held after maturity. The Treasury has, however, given no indication it plans to use this authority.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

When Jesus was questioned by the legalists, the moralists and the religious leaders of His day He answered in terms of personal relationships with God. He taught spiritual concepts which could not be confined to the boundaries of mere conduct.

Each time that His adversaries tried to trap Jesus into choosing between legal alternatives, He rose above trivia to emphasize man's personal relationships with God. He was not concerned with man-made limitations on conduct or with political interests.

God judge—us on the basis of spiritual verities. We must pause in these days of Holy Week to determine whether we are sincere followers of the Master. We may be among those who deserted Christ when He was being condemned by materialistic human beings.

Historical value of the Rosetta Stone lies in the fact that the hieroglyphics on this fragment of stone were translated by scholars and provided the key to the language of ancient Egypt.

Men of First Baptist Sunday School Treat The Ladies

It was a rare treat for the ladies of the Adult II department of the First Baptist Sunday school, Saturday evening, to enjoy a delicious dinner, which they neither planned nor prepared.

The two men's classes, taught by Fred Armistead and Dr. L. I. Webb, being the losers in an attendance contest, paid off with a sumptuous dinner in the dining room of the Educational building.

Not only did the men plan and prepare the dinner, but, attired in fancy aprons and chef caps, served it in "Ritz-Carlton" style. The tables were beautifully decorated with spring flowers and dinner music was furnished by Cecil Abney at the piano, as he played favorite selections as the guests enjoyed group singing and amusing story telling.

The highlight of the evening was a style show of the latest "Lily Dache" creations in smart Easter bonnets. To the strain of the "Easter Parade" the following modeled in true "Powers Model" style: Waldo Herron, Velmont McDaniell, G. B. Wiley, Ed Cole, John Foster, Charles Hurt, Russell Lynn, Dwight Karnes, Robert Muge, Herman Davis and L. I. Webb. Applause from the ladies determined the favorite among the bonnets, and the large white picture hat trimmed with red roses, modeled by Ed Cole, was voted the winner.

Additional hosts included David Durham, Paul Hays, Fred Armistead, Warren Priest, Fred Bramlet, Marion Lane, Paul Baker, Dan Minner and Orle Tanner. The women and their families who were also guests, felt assured that the men can not only "bring home the bacon" but can prepare it, as well.

Mrs. Viola Elliott of Eldorado, former Harrisburg resident, is critically ill in the Pearce hospital, Eldorado. Mrs. Elliott is librarian of the Eldorado Memorial library.

Mrs. Irene Stout Hostess
To Ladies' Bible Class

The scripture reading, taken from the 28th chapter of Matthew, was given by Mrs. Ethel Hudnell who also read the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. Maud Shelton closed the meeting with prayer.

Refreshments of bakeless cake and whipped cream were served with coffee and cold drinks. Those attending were Mrs. Hudnell, Mrs. Shelton, Mrs. Peoria Langford, Mrs. Alma Dunn, Mrs. Ethel McDowell, Mrs. Rosa Stricklin, Mrs. Rose McIlrath, Mrs. Cora Dixon, Mrs. Nina Vaughn, Mrs. Fay Dill and Mrs. Florence Noonan.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Archie Hill.

Miss Elsie Ruth Sturm of Elmhurst, Ill., is spending a part of her Easter vacation with her aunt, Mrs. Louise LaBaw, 31 West Park street. Miss Sturm is a senior at the Elmhurst college and will teach in the Lombard schools after her graduation in June. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Sturm.

XXXV
"I knew about Jim before I ever came to Pawnee City," Alder went on. "I'd been down in Texas. I found the ambulance, the wooden treasure chest . . . and what was left of my brother. You didn't bother to search him. He was just another dead Johnny Reb . . . when you left him."

"Morgan!" cried Jagger suddenly. "Morgan shot your brother?"
"I know Jim was wearing a gray uniform—not like me—and you were wearing a blue. You were doing the job you had to do and he was doing his. But murder—Mr. Jagger, that's another horse."

"Murder?"
"I found my brother's bones two years ago," Alder went on remorselessly.

"We were after your brother, but he was giving us a run for it. Morgan brought down one of the horses while we were on horseback. It was over 200 yards and he got the horse. That upset the ambulance and we charged your brother. He whanged back at us and Morgan got him with a single shot."

"With what kind of a gun?"
"His carbine."

"And the second bullet? The one through the head?"

"When your brother went down, Morgan ran up. He drew his revolver and shot your brother to finish him off."

"While he was lying on his back?"

Alder looked at Jagger for a long moment. Then Jagger played his trump card. He took from his pocket the resolution he had received from Chad Morgan as mayor of Pawnee City.

He handed it to Alder, who read it. "Do you know what this does to me?" Jagger asked. "When the cattle stop coming here, I'm through. My bank goes bust. I lose the yards, this hotel. Do you know now who it is I want you to kill?"

"Morgan!"
"Yes—Morgan. The man who's ruining me. The man who—murdered your brother. Ten thousand dollars in cash paid to you as soon as the job's done." He added, "I could save that ten thousand, Alder, if I could hit a target with a revolver . . . or even with a rifle."

"I'll do it, Mr. Jagger," Alder said slowly. "I would have done it for nothing, but I've spent my time and my money on a long chase. And maybe," he added, "I'll take a trip to Europe with the ten thousand."

The walls of the hotel rooms were thin. A person in one room who was alone, lying quietly on a bed, could hear the conversations in the next room, especially if one strained her ears—and put one against the wall when she heard certain names.

Morgan was fully dressed, although he was lying on his cot with the light out, when he heard someone rattling the knob of the front door. A voice called, a low, almost frantic voice. "Chad—Chad, are you inside?"

He exclaimed and swung his feet to the floor. He took two quick strides and was through the door that led to the office section of the building.

He reached out, caught Helen Jagger's arm and pulled her inside.

"I had to talk to you, Chad," she said, almost sobbing.

"Of course," he replied.

They went into his room and he asked, "Shall I put on a light?"

"N-no, I'd rather talk to you in the dark. Chad," she said in a strained, low voice, "don't—don't talk for a minute. I want to say this clearly without—without hysterics."

She laughed shortly, harshly. "I know about Joe, Chad. I know that he's wrong, that he's been wrong all the time."

Morgan said gently, "Joe was my friend all through the war."

"The money did it," Helen went on. "The $25,000 that you—Joe and Joe stole. 'Yes, I know, Chad. I think I suspected it all along.'"

"Make no mistake, Helen," Morgan said earnestly. "I went in of my own free will. I wanted to get rich as much as he did."

"No, that's not true, Chad." She stopped and raised her head. "He's going to kill you, Chad! Not Joe—he knows he can't do it himself. But he—he's hired Tom Alder."

"Alder!" exclaimed Morgan. "But it was Tom Alder's—"

"His brother, the man you killed to get the money. Tom Alder knows it. He knew the whole story and what he didn't know, Joe told him—that you—you shot Tom's brother."

Tom Alder stood in front of The Longhorn Saloon. He had been standing there for a half hour before Morgan came out of the real estate office and saw him in front of the saloon. He stopped.

Morgan counted mentally to 10 and when Alder still made no movement and gave no sign of recognition, Morgan crossed the street and went to the Chinese restaurant. A man had a daily routine to go through, even if it was his last day on earth.

While Morgan was in the restaurant, Tom Alder remained outside The Longhorn Saloon. He saw Joe Jagger come from the direction of the hotel, was aware that Jagger was casting furtive glances at him, but Alder gave him no sign of recognition.

Jagger went into the Pawnee Savings Bank and a few minutes later, Alder caught a glimpse of him peering through the window.

Oil Drillings in Illinois at Three-Year Low

URBANA, Ill. — Oil well drillings fell to the lowest level in three years in March, the Geological Survey Division reported today.

There were only 188 wells completed in March, and well completions for the first three months of 1957 are about 23 per cent below the same period last year.

The division said some of the decrease in drilling completions was seasonal due to unfavorable road and weather conditions, but that there also seems to be a "real as well as a seasonal" decrease in drilling.

March oil production was at about the same level as February, an estimated 230,000 barrels a day, with a total production for the month of 7,136,000 barrels.

Olds Owner: That's Oldsmobile's new J-2 Rocket Engine!

Neighbor: What's that? Tell me how it works.

Olds Owner: When you're driving under ordinary conditions, it uses only one carburetor. That means economy with a capital E. But when you need a sudden burst of power, for safety's sake, you just press the accelerator three-quarters of the way down—and two additional carburetors cut in!

Bob Colborn To Remain at Murphysboro

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. — Athletic Director Bob Colborn, 30, who resigned earlier and signed a contract to coach basketball next year at Kankakee high school, said today he will stay at Murphysboro.
Murphysboro Principal Ted Shoberg said Colborn advised him of his decision this morning to stay as athletic director and head football, basketball and track coach. Shoberg said Colborn is writing and phoning Kankakee school officials to be released from his contract.

The Murphysboro principal said Colborn's decision to stay is based on his desire to enter graduate work at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale.

"There is no salary increase involved," Shoberg said.
Colborn has been at Murphysboro only one year, going there from West Frankfort.

He was an All-State football and basketball player at Flora high school and starred in the same sports at SIU.

Struggle for Power Far from Over in Jordan

By United Press

King Hussein restored stability to Jordan for the time being today, but the struggle for power in that impoverished Middle East land is far from over.

A new government purged of Communists and extremists and headed by Dr. Hussein Khalidi, a Palestinian with some sympathies for the West but with a bitter hatred of Zionism and Israel, had the difficult job of mapping Jordan's future between the contending East and West.

Jordan's reason for existence was largely eliminated with the recent abrogation of the pact which made it the base for stationing British troops in the Mideast and the recipient of British subsidies to keep its economy solvent.

But it still is involved in the great power struggle between the bloc of Arab states dominated by Egypt and the more pro-Western Arab states led by Iraq.

Informed sources in Beirut, Lebanon, said the Soviet Union had intervened during the crisis in an unsuccessful effort to keep former Premier Suleiman Nabulsi in power. The Russians couldn't keep him in the top job, but he remains very much in a position of influence. The basic issue now is whether Jordan will pursue a pro-Western or a leftist foreign policy.

In Tel Aviv, Col. Nehemia Brosh, the Israeli military spokesman, said two Israeli guards were killed today near the Jordan border in an ambush by hit-run Arab Fedayeen raiders.

Israel has reported a large number of similar clashes along its borders with its Arab states since the withdrawal from the Sinai.

Egyptian U. N. Ambassador Omar Loufi said in a letter to the U. N. Monday night that Israel was "dramatizing claims of Arab border infiltration from the Gaza Strip as a prelude to 'new aggression'."

Murphy, Richerson, Boatright Elected to Stonefort School Board

Clyde Murphy, Sim Richerson Jr. and Jean Boatright were elected members of the Stonefort board of education in spirited voting Saturday. A total of 337 votes was cast, it was reported.

Boatright and Richerson were write-in candidates, receiving 184 and 176 votes respectively, with Murphy being re-elected to the board with 171 votes.

They beat Phillip Trammel, who had 148, and Ralph Taylor, who had 128, according to unofficial figures received from Stonefort. A number of ballots were spoiled, it was reported.

Outline National Park Plans at Area Meeting

and make recommendations on what is found.

The Forest Service's Operation Outdoors also was discussed. It is a five-year plan for developing recreation in the National Forests.

L. P. Neff, supervisor of Shawnee National Forest, said that what money is available here will be used for the most part on rehabilitating existing facilities, with one exception: the constructing of a camp ground at Lake Glendale this summer.

Novelties made in Hardin county were shown at the meeting and a table lamp with a base made from a cedar root was auctioned off, going to Joe Logsdon for $175. Fifty dollars will go to its maker, a man named Farmer, and the remainder used to develop this industry in Hardin.

Want Stratton for Meeting

Mr. Logsdon presented the lamp to the SHRA as a gift, on condition that Gov. William G. Stratton can be brought to a future meeting for a talk and the lamp be presented to him.

Sen. Jones said that he probably couldn't be secured until after the legislature has adjourned but that he and his colleagues in the area would work to secure him for a meeting.

William Farley of Harrisburg told of the accomplishments of the SHRA to date and Geoffrey Hughes of Carterville, executive director of Southern Illinois Incorporated, reiterated the support his organization will give Shawnee Hills.

Also making remarks were Rep. Gordon Kerr of Brookport, State Senator Paul Ziegler of Carmi, and Rex Karnes of the SIU faculty.

FBI Joins in Marcus Probe

CHICAGO — The FBI today joined the investigation into the murder of Chicago banker Leon Marcus, victim of an apparent gangland "ride."

U. S. Atty. Robert Ticken announced the FBI would probe charges that a friend of Marcus paid bribes to Veterans Administration workers to help obtain mortgages on a building project.

The friend, Alfred Rado, owner of a construction firm, allegedly has admitted that he made payments of $10 per house to a VA employee to "expedite" approval of government mortgages on houses.

Among Rado's projects was a 205-home development in suburban Alsip.

Rado also admitted he paid a $300 bonus to Marcus for every housing unit completed by his firm, which the slain banker helped finance.

Marcus was abducted and killed shortly after leaving Rado's home on March 31.

In another development, police caught up with Capone hoodlum Sam (Mooney) Giancana, 48, wanted for questioning in the murder, but learned nothing from him.

CARMI, Ill. — Showers today in southern Illinois produced no new flood threat.

At Carmi, where some 50 families were driven from their homes last week, the Little Wabash River continued to drop after cresting Sunday.

The Wabash River at Mount Carmel crested Monday and has dropped almost an inch in the last 24 hours.

The Weather Bureau at Cairo said the Ohio will remain steady today and Wednesday, then begin dropping Thursday.

At Marion, more than 1-2 inch of rainfall was recorded to 7 a. m. today.

Kefauver Hits Tax Deductions By Power Firms

WASHINGTON — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) today demanded that private electric light and power companies be denied tax deductions for programs "brainwashing" the American public.

Kefauver told the Senate that the companies for some time have been running a "false and misleading" advertising campaign against TVA, Niagara, Hells Canyon, the Rural Electrification Administration and "public power generally."

He said he has been advised by Internal Revenue Commissioner Russell C. Harrington that a study of such advertising is in progress.

He said Harrington wrote that if he found that the purpose of the advertising was "lobbying or attempting to promote or defeat legislation" that tax deductions would not be allowed.

Kefauver said the advertising campaign began after a survey made for the National Association of Electric Companies showed that "TVA was very popular but socialism" was not. Therefore, he said, the "cold-blooded decision was made to link TVA with socialism."

The funds spent on this campaign were "considerable," he said.

"There is little doubt in my mind that these companies have been charging the public, through income tax deductions, for their own brainwashing," he said.

American Soldier Who Disappeared in War II, Later French Hero, on Trial

POITIERS, France — A 31-year-old Brooklyn soldier who disappeared from his American World War II unit and turned up 11 years later as a French army hero went on trial here today on charges of desertion.

Pvt. Vito Sala faces a possible death sentence on the charge that he deserted the 339th Infantry Regiment of the U. S. 100th Infantry Division in 1945.

But the general courts martial will hear an almost incredible tale of an amnesia victim who fought heroically with the French Foreign Legion in Algeria and Indochina. The tale is supported by French credentials and the testimony of psychiatrists.

Sala turned himself in to American authorities at La Rochelle last October. He said he had suffered from loss of memory and asked them to try to trace his past.

U. S. Army records disclosed that Sala was listed as absent without leave from the 100th Division after a battle near Heilbronn, Germany, in April, 1945.

Sala said he lost his memory during a shock and partially regained it only during later shocks when he was fighting in Indochina and Algeria.

French officials supplied a bushel of testimonials to back Sala's claim.

House Bill Puts Ag Conservation On Permanent Basis

WASHINGTON — The House has passed a bill to put the agricultural conservation program on a permanent basis.

Congress has kept extending the program on a temporary basis for 21 years.

The bill — passed by the House Monday — was sent to the Senate.

Under the program — now scheduled to expire Dec. 31, 1958 — farmers receive partial reimbursement from the government for carrying out approved conservation practices. It costs about 250 million dollars annually.

The program was launched with the hope that states would take over administration of the program, receiving federal grants to finance it. But only one state, Mississippi, ever submitted a state plan and it was turned down as inadequate.

The new legislation still would permit states to take over the program.

GM Tops List in Defense Orders

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department today made public a new list of 100 firms getting the heaviest share of defense contracts and General Motors Corp. came up No. 1 as usual.

GM, the new report showed, received $6,965,300,000 in military contracts between July, 1950, when the Korean War started the defense production boom, and June 30, 1956.

Total military orders in that period were $140,358,800,000 of which 63 per cent, or $88,369,600,000, went to the 100 companies and their 207 subsidiaries on today's list.

While General Motors headed the six-year list, it was far down on a list of 100 top contractors for the January, 1955-June, 1956, period, reflecting the shift of military emphasis to aircraft, guided missiles and electronics from ammunition, vehicles and other Korean War type needs.

On the 18-month list, North American Aviation, manufacturer of jet fighter planes and rocket motors, stood at the top.

Lake Shipping

During their eight months of open navigation, the Great Lakes carry nearly two-thirds as much shipping tonnage as the total annual off-shore trade through all U. S. salt water seaports.

POSING BESIDE A LeTourneau earth mover, one of thousands of government surplus items he has acquired in the past ten years, is Ernest R. Wolfe, former supervisor of surplus property expense at Southern Illinois University. Wolfe has resigned to accept an appointment as director of the Illinois state agency for surplus property. Wolfe's bargain hunting has saved SIU a million dollars since 1948.

Public Aid Costs Increase

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Public aid expenditures climbed again in February, to $13,684,211 for 292,849 persons, the Public Aid Commission reported today.

Expenditures for the same month last year totaled $12,793,825 for 284,843 persons.

The commission said the increase was due mainly to larger case loads in the program for aid to dependent children. The program cost $3,670,572 for 103,264 persons in February, an increase of about $65,000 and 15,000 persons over February 1956.

The cost of disability assistance also climbed during February, to offset decreases in the general relief, old age and blind assistance programs.

Costs and caseloads in the other programs were: general assistance, $3,078,439 and 88,192 persons; old age assistance, $5,856,375 and 88,350 persons; blind assistance, $236,148 for 3,147 persons; and disability assistance, $843,498 for 10,729 persons.

Commercial production of celery in America began near Kalamazoo, Mich., more than a century ago, and today production of a $2 million annual crop is centered in Michigan's Ottawa, Muskegon, Allegan and Newaygo counties.

VII. MAN AND HIMSELF

"I have said this to you, that in me you may have peace. In the world you have tribulation; but, be of good cheer, I have overcome the world." John 16:33. RSV.

When Jesus was about to die upon the first Good Friday, he is pictured in the gospel of John as having had long interpretative conversations with his disciples. Near the end he says that he has been talking to them in order that they might have peace.

Peace of mind has recently become so controversial a subject in religious circles that one hardly dares admit that what Jesus was speaking of here was quite simply peace of mind. He frankly told his followers that they would have no peace in this world.

"In the world you shall have tribulation." But that they might have peace in their minds even in the midst of trouble, difficulties, even tribulation in this world was the reason he spoke to them as he did. What did Jesus say in the very shadow of his cross that could give his followers peace in the midst of trouble? What can he say to us now to the same end?

"Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world." Note two things he did not say. Jesus did not say, "Be of good cheer; the world is unimportant." One of the constant dangers of any religious interpretation of life is to run away into some spiritual refuge, looking with disdain upon the human beings who, poor things, care what happens to the world.

But it is never anything but cowardly to run away from a battle even if it is in the name of God that you run away. Religion must never be used as an excuse not to do our duty every day in this world's life and work.

One more thing Jesus did not say. He did not say, "Be of good cheer, things aren't as bad as they look." This is the other and opposite danger of religion—to sentimentalize. Things are as bad as they look and sometimes they are worse.

Christian peace and Christian good cheer come because, in Christian faith, God counts. He is important yesterday, today and forever. But he is particularly important just now. God, who transformed the cross of Jesus Christ from the hideous evil that it was into the sign of the triumph of God's love for all men, can take your hard tribulation and transform it into some good for you and all whom you love.

When you come to such a faith in God, then you can have peace no matter what, and you can have cheer even in the darkness of suffering and loss.

Social Security Rules
For Farm Workers are Different This Year

Rules covering farm workers under social security changed beginning January 1957. E. Bishop Hill, manager of the Harrisburg social security office, reminded farm employers today. Changes were included in recent amendments to the Social Security Act.

"If a farm employer pays a farm worker $150 or more in cash during 1957, the cash pay is covered as much as $150 cash pay from a farm employer but works for that employer on 20 or more days in 1957 for cash pay figured on a time basis rather than on a piece-rate basis, the pay is covered."

The total number of days worked and the manner of figuring the pay do not count if the worker meets the $150-a-year test. Farm employers are required to keep accurate records of the amounts paid to farm workers who will meet either the wage or time test during the year. Their cash pay for 1957 must be reported next January.

CONSTIPATED?

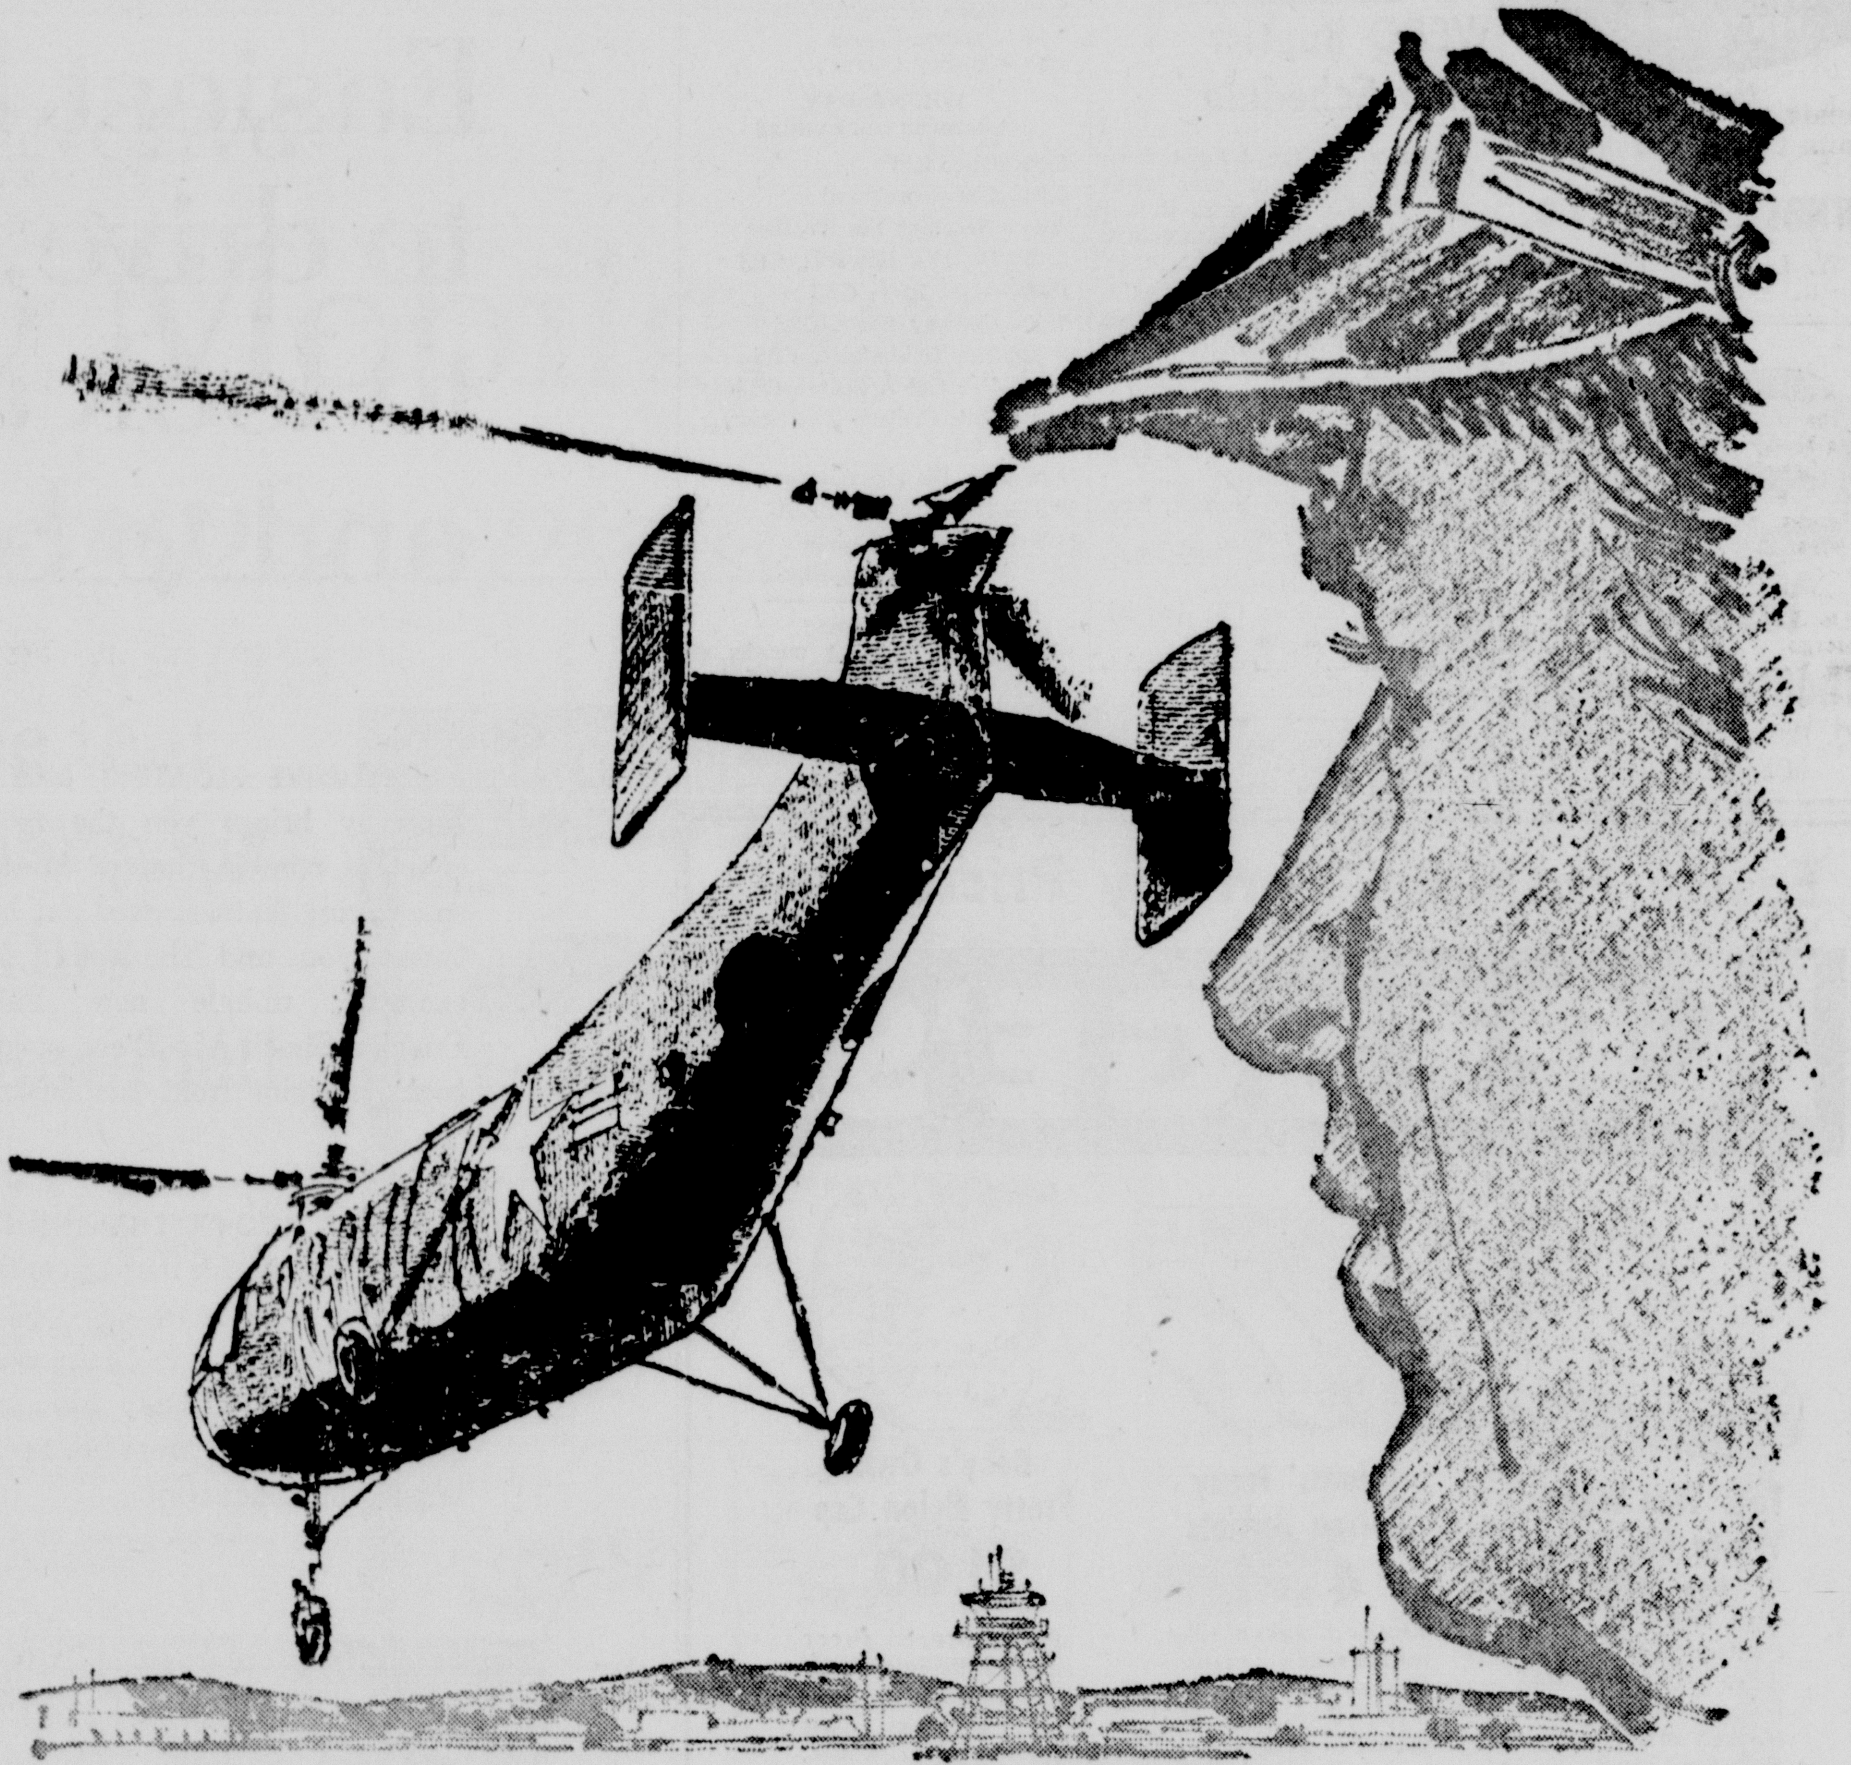

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks
without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to STRETCH and STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions. It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98¢ for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2¢ per tablet.

How Texas Eastern helps put the "whirl" in a whirlbird

Metal helicopter parts—bearings, blades, detail parts—undergo terrific strains in flight. So they must be heat-treated with great exactness to make sure they are properly stress relieved, hardened and tempered.

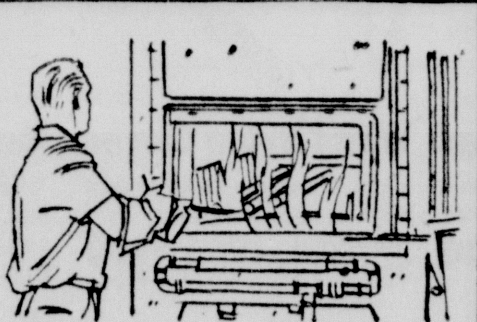

Vertol Aircraft Corporation, maker of "whirlbirds" for Army, Air Force and Navy, uses gas-fired furnaces for these important heat-treating operations and for cleaning and plating, too. Gas is ideal for all these jobs because it is dependable, fast and can be easily and accurately controlled.

To make gas abundantly available in Midwestern, Appalachian and Eastern areas, Texas Eastern transports natural gas from the Southwest through its 5700-mile pipeline system.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Grayson's Flag Picks: White Sox, Reds

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
New York—(NEA)—The Chicago White Sox are going to do it this year. They are going to beat the New York Yankees for the American League pennant and refresh a Subway Series-weary nation. The Cincinnati Reds will help this along by winning in the National League.

After evaluating the major league teams in training, we took our figures in hand and looked them over. They insisted the pennant races will come out like this:

- AMERICAN LEAGUE
1. Chicago
 2. New York
 3. Detroit
 4. Cleveland
 5. Boston
 6. Baltimore
 7. Kansas City
 8. Washington
- NATIONAL LEAGUE
1. Cincinnati
 2. Milwaukee
 3. Brooklyn
 4. St. Louis
 5. New York
 6. Pittsburgh
 7. Chicago
 8. Philadelphia

There's nothing which says it's mandatory to go with the Yankees and Bums just because Mickey Mantle can hit 60 home runs and Don Newcombe can sock parking lot attendants.

As long as Minnie Minozo risks his carcass to get on base (hit 23 times last year) and Nellie Fox can cram his jaw with tobacco, Senior Lopez has a dangerous club in Comiskey Park. They can run like his Indians couldn't, and the pitching could be near sensational with Billy Pierce, Jack Harshman and Dick Donovan firing. A little first basing and a lot of hitting by Larry Doby might shove them on top. We say it will.

ON PAPER, THE YANKEES are—the Yankees. Casey Stengel feels this is his best team. Going against them, you automatically qualify as a premier long shot tabber. We're doing it for the simple reason it's time somebody beat them. Percentages insist they're due to lose. We like the figures—and the Chisox.

The Tigers, up a couple of notches, have a star in Al Kaline. You'll also like Jack Tighe, their refreshing manager.

Except for the pitching, Cleveland's wearing out by degrees. And how much longer can Early Wynn and Bob Lemon keep popping them by batters?

Even Ted Williams says the Red Sox are no better than fifth place and have only two pitchers, Frank Sullivan and Tom Brewer, and no infield. No spat here with The Spitter.

Paul Richards is still trying to do it with castoffs at Baltimore, and standing still. A rookie third baseman, Brooks Robinson, shows some potential, and Gus Triandos has it in him to become a catching standout.

If Lou Boudreau keeps getting more Yankees, they could shift the Kansas City franchise to Denver without loss of recognition. Enough class rubs off to keep them a notch above Charley Dressen's Senators, who are hopeless.

IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE, the same three-some will go right down to the wire, with a reverse order of finish. Birdie Tebbetts, with the help of pitching coach Tom Ferrick, has more hurling help than anyone thinks, and all the sluggers you'd want.

Milwaukee, blessed with talent, still is weak at second and in left. The pitching, though, is the best in the majors.

Pennant Races Begin in Earnest After Orioles Win Ragged Tilt from Senators

By United Press

The major league pennant races start in earnest today after a presidential opener in which baseball put its worst foot forward.

Some 250,000 fans are expected at the eight openers with primary interest focusing on the New York Yankees' attempt to make a fast getaway in quest of a third straight American League pennant and the Brooklyn Dodgers' embarking on what is figured to be another season-long National League battle with the Milwaukee Braves and Cincinnati Redlegs.

A Ragged Start

The season got off Monday to a somewhat ragged start when the Baltimore Orioles scored an 11-inning, 7-6 victory over the Washington Senators in a three-hour and 17-minute struggle marked by 26 hits and five errors. President Eisenhower tossed out two ceremonial "first balls" and looked like the best pitcher in the ball park until Billy Loes came along to pitch two scoreless innings and pick up the triumph.

Something more like big league competition is anticipated today and tonight from a schedule that has Washington at New York, Chicago at Cleveland, Boston at Baltimore and Detroit at Kansas City in the A. L., and Brooklyn at Philadelphia (night), New York at Pittsburgh, Milwaukee at Chicago and St. Louis at Cincinnati in the N. L.

Casey Stengel, seeking his eighth pennant in nine years, sends 19-game winner Whitey Ford against the Senators, who are opening with Chuck Stobbs.

Strikeout whiz Herb Score was Cleveland's choice to open for the Indians against Jack Harshman of the White Sox; Frank Sullivan or Tom Brewer is going for the Red Sox against the Orioles, and 21-game winner Frank Lary of the Tigers is facing Tom Morgan of the Athletics.

Reese Sidelined

In the National League night opener, the Dodgers are sending 27-game winner Don Newcombe against Robin Roberts of the Phillies. The Dodgers will be without the services of PeeWee Reese in an opener for the first time in his career, excepting the war years, because of a strained back muscle. Don Zimmer, the Brooks' hard luck kid, is replacing him.

Warren Spahn, a 20-game winner last season, is handling the Braves' opening day mound chore against the Cubs' Bob Rush; Johnny Antonelli of the New York Giants is opposing Bob Friend of the Pirates and Vinegar Bend Mizel is hurling for the St. Louis Cardinals against surprise starter Johnny Klippstein of the Redlegs.

The races start with the Yankees a lop-sided 2-5 pick in the A. L. and the Braves a slight choice in the N. L.

A crowd of 23,872 saw the Orioles finally beat out the Senators Monday when Dick Williams doubled, moved to third on a sacrifice and scored on a sacrifice fly by rookie outfielder Carl Powis.

Jack Coombs, Ex-Hurling Great Of Athletics, Dies

TRAPPE, Md. (U)—Frank (Home Run) Baker declared today that ex-Philadelphia Athletic teammate Jack Coombs, the pitcher for whom he hit one of baseball's most famous home runs, "richly deserves" being voted into the game's Hall of Fame.

"No better pitcher ever walked out onto a mound," said the 76-year-old Baker of Coombs, who died Monday of a heart attack in Palestine, Tex. "He was not only a great pitcher but a wonderful man. He certainly should be voted into the Hall of Fame."

Coombs, 74, was the most effective pitcher on an Athletic staff that included Eddie Plank and Chief Bender in 1910-11-12 and, with a 5-0 slate, was the most successful World Series hurler of the dead ball era. Coombs' World Series record is matched only by Herb Penneck and exceeded only Lefty Gomez' 6-0 slate. His 13 shutouts in 1910 is still the A. L. record.

Coombs had a record of 159 victories and 112 losses in the big leagues. He later coached the baseball team at Duke University for 26 years and in recent years held clinics for youngsters in Palestine, Tex.
